

Local Blatters.

FRIDAY Morning: December 16, 1854.
THURSDAY.—Again we have the pleasure of acknowledging favors received from H. B. Burt, Esq., of Adams & Co.'s express.

Criminal Court.—This tribunal, which adjourned Wednesday, will hold the final session of the term to-day.

The Parade.—The Parade Opera will open Saturday evening about the 10th instant, and give one or two grand concerts at Old Fellow's Hall.

Parrot.—We advertise this morning, the offer of a liberal reward for the recovery of a pistol lost on Union or Front street at Wednesday night.

Important.—Merchants and housekeepers may find it to their advantage before purchase, to call at the office of our paper elsewhere, to call on Verner & Co., 54 Front Street.

The Last of the Conquerors.—Capt. Cook and the remaining adherents of Brown the late Harper's Ferry insurrection, will be hanged at Charlestown, Va., today.

Reckless' Convict.—There were no less than twenty delinquents before the Reckless court, who were sent to the chain gang for payment of fine January.

Fox.—An old steamboat, situated near the closing date of fruit and vegetable season, was buried about 3 o'clock yesterday morning, and the loss was trifling. The fire was the work of an incendiary.

Horticulturists will bear in mind the closing sale of fruit and vegetable ships, when sending their produce to market, as advised by G. L. Locke & Co. Among the shade trees are the new shade poplar, Lombard poplar, etc.

Feminine Delinquency.—Mrs. Langman was arraigned before Equitable Justice yesterday, charged with having sold a bill of exchange to a neighbor in New Memphis, Mrs. Cunningham. In the absence of proof the accused was discharged.

Trade in Hides.—The McLellan, which left this city yesterday, had, in addition to her ordinary load of 300,000 pounds of hides, 100 barrels of tobacco and 100 barrels of flour, all shipped by G. B. Leake & Co.

Protection for Merchants.—The committee of the Chamber of Commerce, the State applied for a conference until the next term of the court, and the defendant was recognized for his appearance. We erroneously stated, a few days ago, that Mr. Tompkins was present at the trial, and that we take pleasure in correcting the error. The prosecution was for malfeasance in office.

The Old Fox.—Mr. C. Jarrett, the business agent of the H. C. F. Jarrett, in this city yesterday, and made arrangements for series of concerts which will commence at Old Fellow's Hall on Saturday evening. The company consists of no less than twenty ladies and gentlemen, who sing the songs of our grandfathers. Their entertainments are novel, and highly popular.

Nottingham Academy.—We return our thanks to Samuel A. Egle, of Lexington, Kentucky, for his kind and considerate correspondence in our last week's issue.
